WASHINGTON, July 6.—A tremendous shift of American foreign policy, world-wide in its ramifications, was anticipated in well informed Washington circles today as a result of the economic conference debacle at London.

The United States was seen as ready to transfer its centers of foreign diplomatic effort to Latin America, the Orient and Russia, leaving European nations to stew in their own juice.

President Roosevelt's blunt-spoken message to the world economic parley, described by European critics as "a new declaration of American independence," fitted with prophetic fidelity into a pattern of predictions made by some of his close friends on Capitol Hill.

Not Yielding Any Further.

These predictions were that the chief executive, although perfectly willing to meet with European statesmen on a give-and-take basis, had determined not to permit a repetition of past international conferences at which America "lost its shirt." The president was represented as being out of patience with European efforts to wring further concessions from this country without yielding anything in return.

To members of this group, the Roosevelt "bombshell" refusing to stabilize the dollar on a temporary basis came as no surprise. And neither did other developments, highly significant when viewed as component parts of a broad foreign policy.

Among the developments were a

Campers, who are out in the wooded places near here, report they are having a hard time keeping warm the last few nights. The nights have been most agreeably cool this week.

In spite of the many hot days experienced last month, the average temperature was below normal. This was due to the fact that there were several cold nights during the month, when the temperature was only a few degrees above the freezing point, which brought the average down considerably.

Good news has certainly been percolating around the Seventh Ward of late, with the two calls for return of furloughed men in that section. Addition of 55 in the last day or so, makes a total of 80 called back to employment in the past couple of weeks.

This is the first day for candidates for local offices to secure signatures to petitions for the September primaries. Many of the prospective candidates are making good use of the first day.

Unless there is an unforeseen development in the weather conditions Balbo said, the 24 planes will not take off for several days.

Speed Up Activities At Neshannock Falls Quarries; 75 Working

Whistles blowing, engines grunting, air drills tat-tatting away at the stone deposits, now and then a dull explosion as dynamite loosens the stone, cars being shifted, derricks swinging their long arms from stone pile to car, this in brief is a picture of the Neshannock Falls Quarries at the present time.

Seventy five men working in two shifts are getting out stone for the rip-rapping of the two highways under construction at the Pymatuning Dam, and the high speed maintained is necessary, if the stone is all to be shipped before snow blankets the stone deposits.

When the second contract was received by Bates and Rogers for the building of the highway across the dam breastworks, it meant 40,000 tons of rip rap stone. Added to the 100,000 tons needed for the Espsville-Anderson Highway meant that the quarries must expand their operations and more men were put on.

Normal Seasonal Slow-Up Fails To Appear This Year

June Commerce Figures Fail
To Show Usual Slow-up
Of Business

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, July 6.—Significant in the Commerce Department's monthly business survey for June was the fact that the normal seasonal slow-up did not take place this year.

These influences, the department announced today, failed to halt the upward movement which continued throughout the month, giving indications that the momentum already brought to bear by reconstruction activities would carry commerce and industry through the usually dull summer season.

"Employment and payroll gains have lagged considerably behind increases in production," the department said. "While factory employment and payrolls both increased in May and the upward trend continued in June, the indexes in May were below the low level of a year ago."

Student Is Not Victim
Of Suffocation

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, July 6.—Benjamin R. Coppola, 25, a graduate law student of the University of Pennsylvania, today was recovering from the shock of reading in the newspapers how he had been asphyxiated in a fire at his apartment here.

Spending the holiday at Atlantic City, Coppola almost collapsed when he bought a paper and saw the headlines. His family, at Weedville, Elk county, was preparing to accept the body of the fire victim as that of the young law graduate.

Racing back to Philadelphia after telephoning his parents, Coppola identified the victim as his close friend, Charles Biddle, 29, a pharmacist. Authorities had believed Biddle was Coppola who rented the apartment several days ago.

Biddle and his mother had spent several days in Atlantic City with Coppola but returned Tuesday afternoon. Biddle, who had a key to Coppola's apartment, apparently slept there during the night and was suffocated early Wednesday morning when a fire broke out as he fell asleep smoking a cigarette.

Harry Hoskins, engineer for the city today stated that the first of surveys for anticipated improvements by the city under the provisions of the Federal Recovery Act got under way today when Engineer Leslie Wilson and others started 'field work' on the proposed continuation of the Euclid avenue storm sewer. A portion of the sewer was built some years ago. Anticipated improvements may cost $300,000.

Of this estimated cost, the city would be given 30 per cent and give security for 70 per cent, as provided by the federal law. Council tentatively agreed upon improvements Wednesday and following the completion of plans they will be submitted with a request for the money to the state board which is in charge of the work in Pennsylvania.

Anticipated improvements agreed upon yesterday follow:

WASHINGTON, July 6.—Domestic problems claimed the attention of President Roosevelt today, although he continued to study carefully frequent reports from the World Economic Conference in London transmitted to him by the state department.

The president has been forced to forego taking over active leadership of his national recovery program within the past two days, as he had planned, by crises abroad. With a series of communications to the American delegates at the conference outlining his position, off his chest, the executive hoped today for a brief spell to give his attention to internal affairs.

His latest move in connection with the foreign situation was to dispatch his minister to Sweden, Lawrence Steinhardt, to the Economic Conference. Steinhardt was to have sailed for Stockholm on the eighth.

Orders Increase At Burton Plant

Operations at the Burton Explosives Co. plant located in Mahoning Township are on the upgrade according to Paul Forney manager of the plant, today, and the seventy five men employed are working five and a half days per week. Orders have increased Mr. Forney stated, and the indications for the future are favorable.

The money to be allocated under the Federal Recovery Act will be utilized to a large extent in road building and this will mean explosive blasting out rock. Burton explosives have been found highly satisfactory both in government and private usage and officials of the company felt confident they will get their share of orders.

Central firemen were saved the bother of answering an alarm this morning, when August B. Fleisgarten, of 215 West Sheridan avenue, drove his blazing machine up to the door of the fire station.

Mr. Fleisgarten smelled smoke, but was unable to locate the fire. As the odor became more pronounced he sped toward the fire station. Firemen on investigating, found that someone had apparently dropped a cigarette on the top of the car which burned through and set fire to the wedding between the top and inside lining.

It was necessary to remove a large portion of the top of the car to extinguish the blaze, which had spread around on the inside of the machine. The damage was approximately $25.

Plan Consistory Picnic In August

Reviving a custom of some years ago, a picnic is being planned by the New Castle Consistory, which will be sponsored as to detail and arrangements by the Legion of Honor. At a meeting held Wednesday night in the Cathedral the tentative arrangements were made for the picnic to be held on August 9 in Cascade Park.

While the picnic will be limited to members of the Consistory and their families, the Legion of Honor will take care of the work, assisted by the Caliphs of Bagdad and the O. Y. D. Committees have been named, and a meeting will be held next Wednesday night to discuss at further length the necessary details. Earl C. Marriages And Divorces Show Decrease In State

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 6.—Marriage fell off to a lesser degree while divorces decreased to a greater degree in Pennsylvania than in the country as a whole last year, the Census Bureau reported today.

Marriages in 1932 as compared with 1931 declined only 6.5 per cent in Pennsylvania but dropped 7.5 per cent in the nation, the bureau stated. Divorces in 1932, on the other hand, declined 19.7 per cent in the Keystone state but only 12.7 per cent in the country.

Marriages in the country as a whole in 1932 numbered only 6.1 per 1000 residents. Pennsylvania marriages, to the contrary, averaged 9.6 for each 1000 population. Annulments in Pennsylvania declined from 54 in 1931 to 41 in 1932.

Pretense At Keeping Confer-

GEOLOGICAL MU-
SEUM, LONDON, July 6.—Frantic efforts were made today to stave off the seemingly inevitable collapse of the world economic conference.

The steering committee, consisting of representatives of sixteen large nations, met for nearly four hours behind closed doors discussing oxygen treatment, and finally recessed until late afternoon. The adjournment will give the drafting committee time to draw up a resolution which will preserve the fiction that the conference is continuing its efforts in behalf of world prosperity.

Funeral Orator

But in reality it will merely be the parody's funeral oration. In view of France's intransigency regarding stabilization and President Roosevelt's positive refusal to peg the dollar, everybody agreed that the monetary side of the conference was a complete collapse.

The question was whether to keep the economic side alive, and apparently it was agreed that this should be done. Boiled down, what this amounts to—whatever face is eventually put on it—is a recess for the conference, leaving skeleton committees to carry on purely economic phases such as tariffs.

Secretary of State Hull took the position at the bureau meeting that the United States does not want the conference to adjourn, and he stressed that the onus must be placed elsewhere than on the United States.

He was supported by Prime Minister Richard Bennett of Canada, whose national monetary interests lie much closer to the American dollar than the English pound. It was understood some amusing debate occurred relative to the difference between adjournment and recess.

To the French the terms were synonymous. To the Americans there was a considerable difference. One American delegate who is close to President Roosevelt told International News Service:

Conference Flops
"The conference has flopped. Of course, they are going to blame us for it. But we are doing a little blaming ourselves."

Roosevelt Aims At Aid For U.S.

Determined To Build For Future Prosperity Of This Nation

MANAGED DOLLAR WILL BE SOUGHT

By KINGSBURY SMITH
International News Service Staff

WASHINGTON, July 6.—Determined to build the basis for future American prosperity at home rather than risk the welfare of the country in any international or world wide business recovery President Roosevelt today sought a method by which to operate a managed currency.

The president let it be known his objective is to seek a managed dollar that always will have the same purchasing value in relation to the general level of domestic commodities.

His aim is to restore prices to a level at which industry and agriculture can function profitably and efficiently. When prices reach that level, he intends to hitch the dollar to the general commodity level.

No Gold Exporting
If commodities rise, the dollar would rise correspondingly, and vice versa if commodities dropped. In this manner, president Roosevelt hopes it will be possible to prevent commodity prices from going up or down to any great extent while the value of the dollar remained comparatively stationary, thus causing distress to either the white collar classes or to agriculture.

Mr. Roosevelt believes that in order to make this managed dollar plan workable it will be advisable to keep gold within this country and maintain it principally as collateral for currency.

Therefore, he is unwilling to agree to join with Europe in any equalization fund scheme to control the fluctuations of foreign exchanges.

He fears such an agreement might morally obligate this government to export gold in order to meet the demands of an equalization fund and he is not prepared to do this at present.

A beautiful, unidentified girl, her body marked by a brutal beating, was found unconscious last night by police in a dark alley in back of the Hotel Arcady.

Apparently left for dead by unknown assailants, the girl was discovered by Patrolman Dunigan and rushed to the Emergency Hospital, where, it is said, she may die from the contusions that resulted from the attack.

Examination of her garments, torn in the struggle, gave police no clue. Check is now being made with all hotels and the Missing Persons Bureau of leading cities in an effort to identify her.

LOOKING AFTER OUR OWN AFFAIRS

SAID President Roosevelt in his message of May 16 to all nations sending delegates to London: "The Conference must establish order in place of the present chaos by stabilization of currencies, by freeing the flow of world trade and by international action to raise price levels."

Said President Roosevelt in his message last Monday to the delegates: "The Conference was called to better and perhaps to cure fundamental economic ills. It must not be diverted from that effort." And he postponed stabilization until the world had worked out "concerted policies in the majority of nations to produce balanced budgets and living within their means."

Again said President Roosevelt in his July 3 message: "The sound internal economic system of a nation is a greater factor in its well-being than the price of its currency in changing terms of the currencies of other nations."

Stabilization, therefore, which came first in the May 16 message, is given a back seat. Conditions have been changing rapidly. Confidence has returned. Industry is reviving. More men are at work. Prices are advancing and in many instances wages are increasing. Evidently the president's viewpoint is that international stabilization of currency is of secondary importance; that the interests of the United States are tied to controlled inflation or manipulation of our own currency, and that these interests come first.

Briefly, the program seems to be that the United States will attend to its own affairs and that no action to which it is a party will be permitted at London that will interfere with these affairs. Mr. Roosevelt may be entirely right. Experience will show. We are engaged in conducting a great experiment, and the administration will have to see it through. But in the circumstances—the way things are turning out—it might have been far better had the World Economic Conference never been called. It has produced friction and animosities and little if anything else.

But Great Britain, at whose instance the gathering was summoned, could not foresee that. Neither could Washington have prior to the future and discovered the business revival which now demands the most careful handling.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

GLANDS—SETTLING OUR PROBLEMS

Dr. Ralph Arthur Reynolds, of San Francisco, after a study of convicts in San Quentin prison, declares that every murderer suffers from oversecretion of the thyroid gland, every forger suffers from undersecretion of the pituitary gland and that every social misfit displays malsecretion of some gland.

Hopeful folk will see here a hint for the settlement of all social problems. If their hope is justified, instead of building more prisons all that will be necessary will be to build a few more hospitals and there treat the glands of offenders.

Nor is this all. The work of district attorneys everywhere will be wonderfully simplified. Examination of the gland of a defendant will show at once whether the offense he has committed is a felony or merely a misdemeanor. After this there will be no excuse for changing the charge after the defendant has demanded a jury trial.

And why stop here? It may be that what is urgently needed is a constitutional amendment authorizing the appointment by the president of a corps of physicians to examine the orators in congress after every debate. Their glands should demonstrate beyond peradventure whether they were championing a worthy cause or merely indulging in hysteria. This would naturally do away with the necessity of a vote. The report of the doctors would be taken as final, and the proposed law could either be forthwith enacted or straightway killed.

UNCLE SAM'S PULLING POWER

While European diplomats are barking at London because the United States does not agree to submerge her national interests for European benefit, it is interesting to note that since March, because of the rise in the price of certain commodities, foreign countries have increased their purchasing power on four items alone in the sum equal to forty per cent of our total manufactured exports in the year 1932.

The American Exporter points out that the actual increase in the price of rubber alone between March 1 and June 15, plus the estimated increase in consumption indicates that the countries which grow rubber will derive from the American market an increased purchasing power in the American market of nearly fifty million dollars in the year 1933. The rubber producing countries will of course benefit through the increased world price of rubber, but it is not to be forgotten that the chief benefit they derive will come from our own country which uses 64 per cent of the rubber produced in the world.

The Exporter in estimating the advantage of China and Japan in the American market because of the increase in the price of raw silk states that this increase in the value of silk exported to the United States will give China and Japan an additional purchasing power of over $116,000,000 in our markets. The advantage which Cuba will get because of the increased price in sugar is over $40,000,000 and of tin nearly $50,000,000.

All of which indicates that in sugar, tin, rubber and silk, four of the raw commodities which Uncle Sam imports, the producing countries will benefit in the sum of more than $256,000,000 because of the increase in the price of these commodities. Nobody doubts that the principal reason for the increase is the change of business psychology in the United States. Uncle Sam is the greatest consumer of these raw materials, and of many others. When he is prosperous he buys them in increasing quantities and the whole world feels the effect. Yet for purely selfish reasons the manufacturing countries of Europe want to pull Uncle Sam down to a lower level in order to derive a transitory benefit to themselves.

Jimmy Walker's boy friend is back and intimates Jimmy ran out on him after he ran away for Jimmy.

Some people whistle when they want to keep their courage up, and others when they've put something over.

ENVY NO SPIDER

There's a spider outside our window... A huge, ferocious looking beast... Every evening in the dark and the dew he spins his web... We turn a flashlight on him and watch him at his work. It bothers him.

This strange unnatural white light slows his pace and sometimes he draws his long, cruel legs inward to himself, curls into a ball and waits until the light goes.

Every night he goes to work on a new web... He must because the wind of the day rips his web apart and if he is to lay his trap for flies and tiny insects he must build it again... But he never learns. He ties some of his white cables to the house, others to a tall shrub. The wind sways the branches of the shrub and breaks his structure easily.

He hasn't any sense about it. He knows no better than to use the same foundations over and over again... And even if only one cable goes he can do nothing about it. He cannot repair his web, he must make another entirely new.

"The noiseless, patient spider?" Huh! The stupid instinctive spider... Spinning all that stuff from his very being, making that marvelous web each night, finding it destroyed each day, putting another together again the following night. How long will he, that absurd creature, keep it up?

Don't ask me, I don't know. But this I do know—I've lost my childish respect for spiders... They aren't so much. They don't know everything... Those inspiring, little stories about the wonderful spider that I used to read were just nonsense.

The spider is amazing, but solely because he can do so much with such a minimum of brains... Let the moralist have his spider—I'll take a human being. I'll take a man who can build a dream and see it crash and build it stronger the next time.

I'll take a life fall to pieces and see the weakness of it and repair it wisely and turn that weakness into a strength and a beauty and a lasting security. I'll take a child that, burned in his ignorance learns to use fire wisely thereafter. I'll take a baby that learns as it grows... I'll take PEOPLE who make nothing so fascinating as a web, but spin themselves something more beautiful, more daring, more tormentingly lovely than any spider's web—a human life.

The Only Thing Congress Didn't Consider Was An Amusement Tax On the Goose That Lays The Golden Eggs.

CLAM CHAMPION. In a Maryland town, adjacent to prolific clam beds, there was pulled off a most unique contest.

A man named Frank... said town, had an idea—until recently—that he could get on the outside of more clams than anybody else in the world. Recently, in a conversation with a few of his friends, the topic of clams was introduced, and Frank said casually that he would wager the sum of $25 that he could eat more clams at one sitting than any other gentleman clam eater in the State of Maryland.

Now, in the crowd was Jim—who was considerable of a clam consumer himself, although he had never bragged much about it, which was probably the reason it was not generally known. Frank, the challenger, Frank made some of nettled Jim, who spoke up quietly, and said he would take that wager.

A committee was appointed, who agreed to furnish the clams, and the contest was pulled off the next evening. Each contestant was to have his clams served raw or cooked to his order, as he preferred.

At the beginning of this clam-eating bout, Frank was regarded with considerable contempt, and boasted that he would very soon out-eat him.

But after Frank had managed to worry down his 18th big, fat, juicy, succulent clam, he heaved a satisfied sigh, pushed his chair back from the table, and remarked that he guessed he didn't care for any more clams, thank you kindly. In fact, Frank said he didn't feel at that moment as if he would ever care for any more clams.

He went on to explain at length to the referee that for some unaccountable reason or other, clams had got of palled on him, as it were, and that the thought of eating the 18th clam was extremely obnoxious to him. When those who had bet their money on him asked Frank if, for their sakes, he wouldn't try to gulp down 13 more clams and make his score an even 30, he got mad and wanted to fight.

What was James, his opponent, doing all this time? He asked.

Why, James was engaged in eating clams. He first tossed into his department of the interior 50 raw clams. Jim said these were not quite as large as he would have liked, but that they were very fine-flavored clams. Indeed, and he didn't want anybody to think he was complaining.

Next, he quickly downed 50 fried clams with great gusto; and, following this, he devoured a clam pie containing 75 clams; after which, by way of variety, he absorbed a clam stew containing 13 dozen clams by actual count.

"Now," remarked Jim, licking his chops, "suppose you bring me about 75 more clams on the half shell. They seem to be running larger than they did at first, and my appetite's getting better."

"I am sorry," apologized the head of the clam committee, "but we haven't another clam to our name. As far as clams are concerned, you've cleaned us out completely."

"Aw, shucks!" complained Jim, bitterly, "this is a big disappointment to me. I tell you, boys, it's a terrible blow to a man who loves clams as well as I do to have to stop eating 'em especially when I've just had enough to whet my appetite for 'em as you might say, and make me hungry for more."

Jim then accepted the $25 he had won, and remarked, as he departed, that he would have to spend perhaps a fourth of it for a bite to eat before going to bed, because he didn't propose to retire hungry—and added that he would order clams if he could find 'em.

Mitchell Tax Case Verdict Arouses Criticism Of Law

New York Banker's Acquittal Directs Attention To Difference In Legal Positions Between Small And Large Taxpayers

Defects in the income tax law, some of which are declared to have been corrected by Congress, are emphasized by the public in the comments on the acquittal of Charles E. Mitchell, New York banker, on trial for failure to pay an income tax. It was charged that losses sustained through sale of securities to his wife constituted evasion of the law. The public, in the majority of instances, feels that, as one newspaper expresses it, the law "should have been indicted."

"Mitchell's defense was not a denial," says the SCRANTON TIMES, "but that what he did was within the law, that he was following a common practice." The ROCHESTER TIMES-UNION, while holding that "the action of the jury sets no binding precedent," declares that "Mr. Mitchell's acquittal, in view of the special circumstances, tends to indicate that probably other instances of sales to close relatives or friends, to income taxes, would thus write off established losses, and be within the law." The LEXINGTON LEADER feels that "the entire case was handled with the utmost skill, and it is obvious that whatever may be said of the ethics of the transactions involved, Mr. Mitchell was within the law." The HARTFORD TIMES states that "Mr. Mitchell seems to have been ably defended," and that "the prosecution was energetic and expensive but vain."

"The easy way would have been to convict him as a play to the galleries," suggests the INDIANAPOLIS NEWS. "His acquittal is a credit to the system of justice." But the PORTLAND OREGON JOURNAL voices the judgment: "The great bar of public opinion frequently dissents from verdicts by jurors and renders decisions of its own. And the decision in this great tribunal of last resort will be a demand for more and more curative legislation by which gentlemen of million-dollar incomes shall not escape income tax and go free in courts while some poor soul who steals a loaf of bread for a starving family is sentenced and stung and strafed by the law."

In disagreement with this point of view is the statement by the CINCINNATI TIMES-STAR: "We have erected a great bureaucratic machine for tax collection. Bureaucratic machines are apt to be automatic in their attitude toward individual citizens, and individual citizens, particularly if they are not accustomed to that sort of treatment are apt to object. It may be that the Mitchell jury, subconsciously perhaps, was expressing resentment. It may be, also, that the government, if it continues to demand an ever increasing share of the individual's income for its own purpose and if it becomes more and more automatic in collecting that share, will find it increasingly difficult to get jurors to look severely upon tax evaders." The STAR-TELEGRAM advises that "public resentment should be aimed at the law, toward bringing about a correction, and not toward the individual."

"The acquittal certainly is a reflection upon the loose manner in which the law was interpreted by Congress, particularly with reference to the capital losses clauses," according to the WASHINGTON EVENING STAR, which finds as to the latest changes in the law: "How well the present revisions have plugged the holes through which large incomes have escaped taxation remains to be seen."

Another provision of the recently enacted law may make it far easier to know just what is going on when the time comes to pay income taxes. That provision calls for when such regulations as the President may lay down. The belief is general that since Congress delegated to the President this power of making income tax returns public, the Chief Executive will exercise it.

"The law is fundamentally and indefensibly defective," declares the NASHVILLE BANNER, a conclusion which is drawn also by the TOPEKA DAILY CAPITAL, the OAKLAND TRIBUNE and the BUFFALO EVENING NEWS. Criticism of "loopholes" in the law is expressed by the LOWELL EVENING LEADER, while the ROANOKE WORLD-NEWS holds that the case reflects on Congressmen, "who year after year, have failed to enact a properly drawn income tax statute."

The CHARLOTTE OBSERVER advises that "the next indictment should be against the law." The ALBUQUERQUE JOURNAL feels that "the loopholes should be plugged," and the CHICAGO DAILY NEWS urges that the law "needs considerably more tightening up than Congress, in its haste, deemed necessary."

"The mass of the people," says the SPRINGFIELD (Mass.) REPUBLICAN, "will never see the justice of the capital gain and loss provisions," and that paper feels that through the arrangement "public confidence is subject to shocks that weaken the whole political and social structure."

The ASBURY PARK EVENING PRESS concludes that "any tax that immunizes those most able to pay is a downright fraud," and the CINCINNATI TIMES-STAR adds that "the income-tax law should be amended so that it can no longer be regarded as a peculiar sort of net that catches the little fish and allows the big ones to escape."

National Economy Plans Materialize By Administration

Roosevelt And Democrats Will Seek To Put National Economy Into Practice

Plan Will Be So Designed As To Avoid Future Economic Depressions

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, July 6.—A planned national economy, which for years has been the dream of many leading economists, now is clearly the aim of the Roosevelt administration.

The determination of the President to seek a complete "new deal" in industry, commerce and finance today was more apparent than at any previous time, following conferences held with his advisers on his return to Washington.

The plan is designed not merely to lift the United States out of its business depression, but to set it upon a path which it can follow without violent periods of prosperity followed by equally violent periods of depression.

Inflationary Powers
Control of industry, through co-operative plan embraced in the industrial recovery act; control of agriculture and management of the nation's currency, all are embraced in the general plan.

In the carrying out of this plan the President expects to use the vast powers delegated to him by Congress with vigor whenever necessary. With the revival of confidence throughout the nation, many government observers believe that inflationary powers will be used sparingly, if at all.

America First
The planned economy program is distinctly an "America first" program. In the working out of the plan the President is expected to view from the international theory which has gripped many leaders of his party for many years.

The President is represented as feeling the United States would be far better off with an equal balance of imports and exports rather than to attempt to bring prosperity through capture of foreign trade.

In achieving this balance the President is expected to depend heavily upon creation of a stable foreign commerce with Russia and Latin-American countries, avoiding as much as possible competition between them.

Higher Wages
Efforts to bring about shorter hours of labor and higher wages through operation of the industrial recovery act are expected to be redoubled by the administration. Increased employment and higher purchasing power are regarded as essential to a planned economy.

The President has made it plain that in the management of the nation's currency he does not expect the United States to enter into a period of undue inflation. He has informed callers he is ready to put on the brakes whenever the situation demands.

Hutton Shocked At Report Aimee Wearing Pajamas

David Hutton, Husband Of Evangelist Hears About Flame Colored Pajamas

LOS ANGELES, July 6.—"I am shocked, greatly shocked," commented David Hutton today when advised by Angelus Temple friends that his wife, Mrs. Aimee Semple McPherson-Hutton, had been seen in flame colored pajamas in a Paris hospital where she was reported to be recovering from an abdominal operation.

"I will make no effort to direct my wife's personal life, but just the same I am shocked," Hutton said. Hutton discounted reports that his wife would remain in Paris and not return to America.

One reason why it is hard to get that money back again is because the Allies have no purchasing agents now.

Congressman Erk Back On Stand In Balloting Probe

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, July 6.—Congressman Edmund F. Erk today was to continue his account of balloting in the 30th congressional district, where defeat blasted original indications of a victory for him, before the federal grand jury probing alleged vote frauds in Allegheny county.

Congressman Erk was cloistered with the grand jury for about an hour late yesterday and notified to appear again today to complete his testimony.

Republican leaders from Sharpsburg, north side and Troy Hill which are included in the 30th district also were summoned before the jurors.

The grand jury moved into the 30th district from the 32nd where they studied results of the Muldowney-Mrs. Felix contest and returned indictments against 69 persons, including State Senator James J. Coyne.

to evade taxes which ordinary folks have paid." The AKRON BEACON-JOURNAL contends that the practice "completely discredits the whole income-tax system of the country." On the other hand, the YAKIMA DAILY REPUBLIC asks: "How many of the critics ever paid taxes not required by the law, or how many ever will?" The BALTIMORE SUN argues that "the adequate remedy will consist of a segregation of the tax on gains and losses from capital transactions."

According to the JERSEY CITY JOURNAL, "that the tax law is a strange combination of fairness and unfairness. Essentially the income tax is fair, but in operation sometimes the ideal is abused so as not to be recognizable. When the income tax is used to 'redistribute wealth' it is grossly unfair. The object of the tax should be to raise money. As a business proposition it should be clear that when there is no income there will be no tax revenue for the government. There arises the appearance of unfairness because the man with large capital can live on his capital for a long time without income, while the man with little or no capital, but a small income from wages or otherwise, feels the hard times sharply; at the same time the capitalist pays no tax, while the wage-earner pays. To remedy this seeming unfairness is not such an easy task."

The President should be grateful for Washington's weather. It's the only bad thing he won't get the blame for.

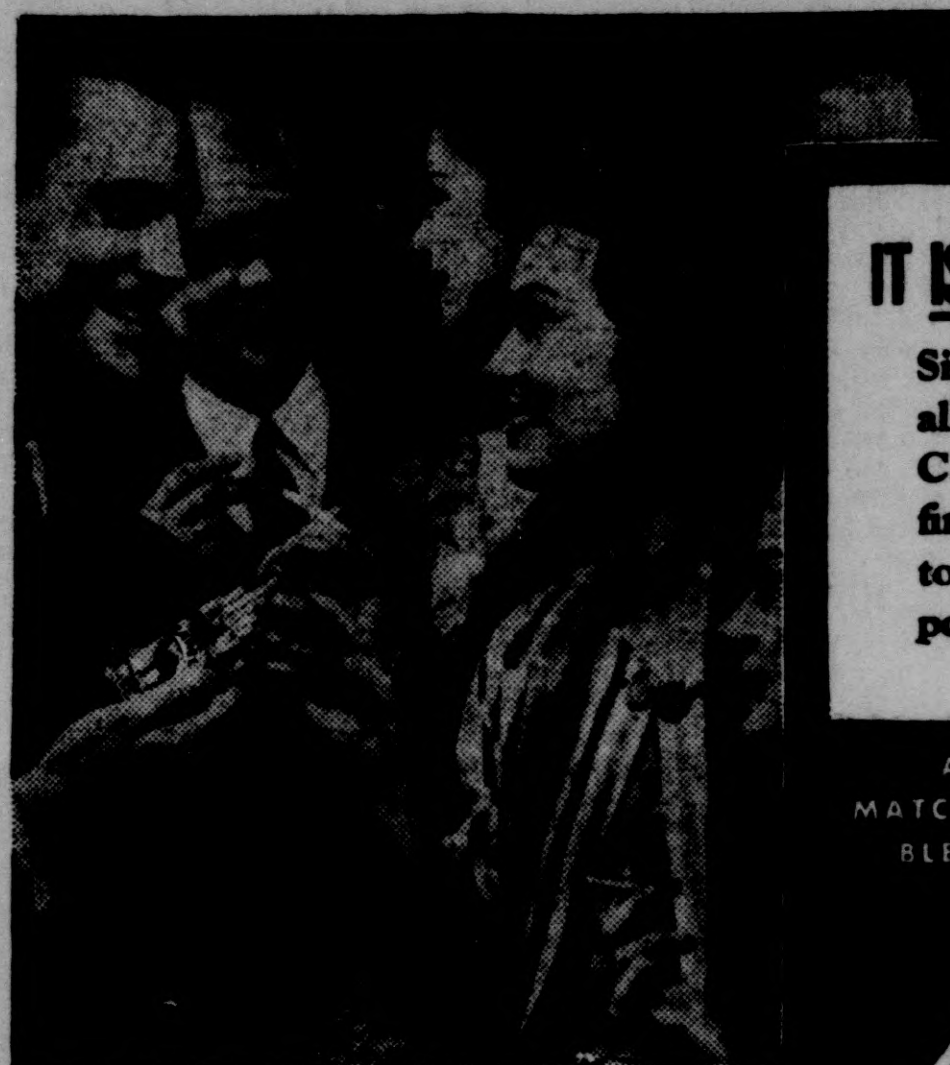

The hard job of a conference is to reach an agreement without discussing anything the nations don't agree on.

Woman Director For Poor Relief Asked To Resign

(International News Service)
GREENSBURG, Pa., July 6.—Her refusal to keep secret plans of the Westmoreland County emergency relief board, today had resulted in the resignation of County Poor Director Anna Ewing Cort from the relief committee. This was revealed today in a letter she received from the governor, although Mrs. Cort denies having resigned.

Mrs. Cort, continuing her duties as poor director, was asked to resign by other members of the relief board at its June 9 meeting, after efforts to effect a secrecy pledge on May 18 had failed. The dismissed member at that time interviewed newspapermen, revealing plans for the state-wide relief program under consideration.

Man And Wife Agree To Unusual Procedure To Care For Sick Child

THREE TO FACE PRISON TERMS

(International News Service) NEWARK, N. J., July 6.—Love for their four-year old son today led Raymond Parks, 26, and his pretty wife, Lillian, to a police court and possible jail sentence and the probability that they would lose the boy for whom they gave up each other.

Raymond, Jr., needed both food and medical aid his jobless father could not provide. So Parks decided there was "only one way out."

"You're young and pretty," he told his wife. "It's tough to think of, but why not go to some other man—one who's got money and wants you—and be a found of adopted wife? He'd take care of the baby, too."

Mrs. Parks revolted at first. But the child became worse. So a few days later she moved with her son into the apartment of Frank Coffey, a former admirer.

Agreement Broken Coffey knew the Parks had agreed on the move. But he stipulated Parks should have no more contact with his wife.

Then Parks got a job. He began to visit his wife secretly, giving her part of his $8 weekly wages to buy little luxuries for their son.

One day when he came, Lillian had a present—a new suit. Parks refused it, claiming Raymond, Jr., needed things more. Coffey returned home that night, angry at the suit and upbraided Mrs. Parks for violating her agreement to sever relations with her husband. He went to police headquarters and demanded her arrest on a statutory charge.

Reminded he was equally guilty, he agreed to arrest on the same charge. Then Parks was arrested for violation of the child welfare law.

Today, all three will be sentenced by Judge Carl Duveneck. Meanwhile, welfare authorities sought a home for Raymond, Jr., taken from his parents because of their inability to support him.

Returning to work as promptly as notices reached them, the majority of the 55 furloughed employees of the Pennsylvania railroad, ordered back on duty yesterday, had taken up their jobs at the Seventh ward car repair shop and enginehouse this morning.

The remainder will be at work probably by Friday.

Roosevelt To Manage Dollar

Will Have Same Value In Relation To Domestic Commodities, Says President

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, July 6.—A managed dollar that always will have the same purchasing value in relation to domestic commodities is the monetary objective of President Roosevelt, it was stated on the highest authority Wednesday.

Just how it will be possible to hitch the dollar to a commodity index has not yet been worked out by the president, but the managed dollar is his objective and he intends to accomplish it in one way or another.

He does not know whether it will take one or a dozen different kinds of methods and his aim in the immediate future is to seek and formulate the procedure.

Mr. Roosevelt feels that this domestic monetary standard will make impossible any international monetary standard, but believes that if all nations follow suit in keeping their currencies at a level corresponding with internal commodity price levels, the monetary problems of the world will be solved.

SPRAY FOR CHILDREN

New Castle, Pa., July 4, 1933.
Editor New Castle News:
Dear Citizens of New Castle:
A few days ago an item appeared in The News for a request to have a spray of water for the benefit of the children when the hot sweltering weather was here. The New Castle Fire Laddies offered the use of the sprinkler, but the New Castle Water Company couldn't afford a little bit of water for that cause.

But the stand pipe on the East Side could be overflowed for four hours on July 4 the water doing nobody any good.

What a great sport and relief that water would have been for the children of New Castle had it been used as a spray. They have these sprays in other towns and cities why not have it here. I am in great favor of this relief for the children.

It is not necessary to have it in one part of the town, but there could be one for each side, East side, West side, North side and South side. There were a good many gallons of water went to waste at that stand pipe overflow. I live within site of this stand pipe and know what I am saying. The stand pipe is often overflowed maybe four or five times a month for two and three hours each time. Please take this into consideration.

An East Side Reader of the News,
MRS. C. V. KENNEDY,
John St., New Castle.

New motor oil shows America how to get 28½% more miles per quart

MEASURING THE EXACT AMOUNT OF OIL placed in each of the test cars. Representatives of the Contest Board of the American Automobile Association tested Gulf-lube against leading brands of 25c oils in 6 borrowed cars—and Gulf-lube stood up 28½% longer before a quart of oil had to be added.

Gulf-lube wins amazing test with borrowed cars of different makes

SIX AVERAGE CARS—from new to several years old—were borrowed from their owners and placed on the Indianapolis Speedway.

In these cars, representatives of the Contest Board of the American Automobile Association tested four of America's leading brands of 25c oils.

In a 4-day grind around the track, at a constant speed of 45 miles an hour, these cars tested each of the competing oils.

And, at the end of the test, Gulf-lube had beaten every oil in every car! In Car No. 2, for example,—when oil "C" was replaced with Gulf-lube, consumption dropped from a quart every 652 miles to a quart every 1447 miles!

And, averaging the figures for all cars, Gulf-lube cut the oil costs on these cars 28½%!

Buy less oil—get better lubrication

Switch to Gulf-lube now. You'll buy less oil. And you'll get better lubrication. Try it! It's the finest motor oil a quarter ever bought. Get it at any Gulf station.

GAS THIEVES.
(International News Service)
QUINCY, Mass., July 6.—A new "racket" cropped up to worry Quincy police. In one evening six motorists reported that some miscreant had siphoned the gasoline from the tanks of their parked automobiles.

1930—One of the cars borrowed for this test run had piled up thousands of miles on its speedometer—yet Gulf-lube cut its oil consumption to the bone!

1931—Pistons and rings in this car had never been replaced—but that made no difference to Gulf-lube! For Gulf-lube outlasted every competing oil tested in this car by a wide margin!

1932—This roadster was in good average mechanical shape, with pistons and rings well "broken in" but not worn. And again Gulf-lube carried off top honors against other leading 25c motor oils!

BRAND-NEW—This car's mileage was little over 1000 miles. Rings and pistons were tight and oil consumption was low. Yet even in this almost new car, Gulf-lube lasted 37.4 more miles per quart than the average of the competing oils!

BEER WON'T MAKE YOU FAT

If you aid the digestive juices that prevent "bloat."

You don't drink beer in any reasonable quantity, and forget it. It encourages the production of fat in human bodies. When these juices are controlled—regulated—you lose all surplus fat, and become slim and really healthy.

That's why the new scientific Vannay treatment is doing such wonders for people who are over-weight. It encourages the proper flow of the Lippase, and actually digests fat before it can deform the body.

Vannay is absolutely harmless. It contains no thyroid extract, no iodine, no laxatives, no drugs of any kind that could hurt even a child. It was discovered by a great physician who has specialized in research with the leading medical institutions of Europe and America.

You don't have to starve yourself or go through painful exercises. You simply take Vannay tablets each day and continue to eat three square meals. The fat disappears at just the places where you want to lose it.

Start the treatment at once, and all your fond dreams of health and slim loveliness should come true. Ask your druggist for Vannay and be sure that name is on the package. If you are not perfectly satisfied with the results, your money will be promptly refunded. Love & Magnolia.

States Will Enact Laws Allowing For Economic Recovery

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 6.—States are preparing to adopt local legislation harmonizing their laws with requirements of the national recovery act, Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, national administrator of industrial recovery, announced Wednesday.

Bills are pending in California and Ohio legislatures and have passed the Wisconsin assembly. Questions from other state officials regarding the form of such legislation are coming to Johnson daily.

Adoption of uniform recovery measures in each state will facilitate the work Johnson is supervising among the basic industries, he indicated. Texas was cited recently by one of his aides as having such drastic anti-trust laws that any organizations practicing what the national recovery law permits them to do would be liable to prosecution.

Johnson is leaving initiative to states but expressed satisfaction over evidences of cooperation he has received. He is relying on existing court decisions which indicate that transactions affecting interstate commerce, even if not involving interstate commerce actually, supersede state laws, but he urged that amendments be enacted by the states.

Codify Industries.

Codifying of all basic industries essential to national recovery will be speeded by Johnson.

The initiative, he explained, rests with the industries, some of which are inclined to wait for developments. Others are working "night and day," Johnson said, to complete regulations which they can present for hearing.

"I cannot put a finger on any one of them and kick about the progress they are making," he said.

Among the codes which are expected before him this week are those of the oil industry, the iron and steel industry and one for the women's apparel industry.

Coupled with the prospect of simultaneous hearings on several codes, there is a strong demand for the president to promulgate the codes by related groups. Johnson is giving serious attention to this phase of his problem.

The troublesome coal code is likely to reach his attention during the week, one major group in the industry having perfected a code which they propose to have applied to all fields, north and south.

Johnson urged the industrial groups to consult his aides in drawing their codes, as failure to learn just what the act provides involves mistakes that have delayed presentation of some codes.

Require Vets To Give Evidence Of Early Disability

Presumptive Cases Must Prove Disability Occurred Year After Service

Many veterans, whose presumption of disability was laid to service causes, neglected to file affidavits with the veterans' administration that such disability existed within one year after their return from service, but presented affidavits showing that it existed prior to January 1, 1925.

All such veterans should make all effort possible to send evidence to the regional office where their claim has been handled, showing that such disability existed within the year after their return from service and affidavits should be presented from those knowing this to be true, the veterans' administration has informed the Lawrence county chapter, American Red Cross.

In the case of those who are suffering or who suffered with pulmonary tuberculosis, the time limit is extended to two years after the close of service.

Fear Expressed That Kidnap Gang Has Killed John Factor; Missing 6 Days

NO CONTACT HAS BEEN MADE YET

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, July 6.—In the luxurious hotel suite where friends and relatives of John, "Jake the Barber" Factor have been keeping a constant vigil since his abduction last Saturday, fear and consternation ruled today.

Six days have passed and no word has been received from the kidnaped millionaire or from his captors, giving rise to the fear that he has been slain.

Deny Contact
The "board of strategy," organized shortly after the abduction to negotiate with the kidnapers, denied today that any contact has been made with the kidnapers. It had been reported that a $200,000 ransom had been demanded, and later that in a second telephone call to Factor's 19-year-old son Jerome the ransom price had been reduced to $75,000.

Jerome was a kidnap victim last April, but was released after eight days without payment of ransom, when his father enlisted the aid of Capone gangsters.

Petition Urges Canal Be Built

Congressmen Sign Petition Asking Roosevelt To Consider Project

SURVEY REPORT TO BE SUBMITTED SOON

With the survey of the modified canalization plans for the Beaver and Mahoning rivers, almost ready to be submitted to the Rivers and Harbors board at Washington, announcement is made that a petition, signed by 21 members of Congress, including the Pennsylvania senators, will be presented to President Roosevelt within a few days, asking that the project be included in the President's Public Works Program.

The re-survey, recently completed by the Pittsburgh district engineers, was forwarded to St. Louis last week, to the Army Engineers headquarters, for further study before being sent to Washington.

The project as it stands after modification last year, calls for the improvement of the streams from the mouth of the Beaver at Rochester to Struthers, O., at an approximate cost of $40,000,000. Improvement of the two rivers would constitute the first step in the long-sought complete canal to Lake Erie from local waters. The Youngstown district has for years been waging a desperate campaign for a water outlet to the Ohio river in order that coal needed by the vast steel industry may be brought to the furnaces by means of more economical water transportation.

National Farm Outlook

POWER FUEL FROM CORN
By ARTHUR H. JENKINS
Editor, The Farm Journal
Written for Central Press

When the 73d congress meets again, which in the ordinary course of things will not be until next January, that body will have before it at least one proposal for the compulsory mixing of alcohol with gasoline. Bills were introduced in the session that ended on June 16, but did not get any serious consideration, anxious as everybody was to cut the session short.

The idea of opening a new market for hundreds of millions of bushels of corn and a great quantity of miscellaneous farm waste products is an attractive one. Agriculture has suffered perhaps more than by any other one thing, because of the automobile truck and tractor, and the huge switch from horse power and mule power to the internal combustion motor. The millions of acres no longer required for animal feed have not yet been successfully turned over to produce food for the human beings who serve the machines.

If, therefore, some of this power-fuel market could be regained, it would be a boon to farming, as well as lessening the drain on our petroleum reserves.

There are a number of reasons why pure alcohol does not serve. It is not as good a fuel as gasoline and it is so tied up with the beverage liquor business, and so many restrictions are necessary in distilling it, that the cost is practically prohibitive.

Indeed, it is the cost factor, among others, which makes it difficult to use even the 10-80, 5-95 or 2-98 mixtures that are now proposed. If the alcohol is distilled as at present, it adds at least a couple of cents to the cost of motor fuel and the fuel itself is no better than straight gasoline. Therefore, say the supporters of the plan, we must tax straight gasoline and remit the tax on the blend, so as to more than equalize the price and force consumers to use it.

That proposal shows it seems to me, why the scheme will not work even if congress could be induced to legalize it. The very large city populations would be a unit against it. The powerful oil companies would oppose it. The government would fear it because of the threat to alcohol tax revenue. Most important of all, many farmers would oppose it, because oil production is a side line in which many farming sections are interested. Even agriculture would not be unanimously in favor. The experience of certain European countries is hardly an argument, since these countries produce alcohol, but must import all petroleum. The mixtures required by law are a part of their general policies of encouraging agriculture and discouraging imports. The mixture is cheaper than straight gasoline.

Our situation is more like that of Brazil, where the mixing of alcohol has been enforced as an aid to agriculture for several years. And it is noteworthy that in Brazil the law has just been suspended, chiefly because motor users did not like the mixture and gasoline was widely bootlegged. That, I fear is what would occur in the United States, too.

Small Boy Found With Revolver In His Possession

Claims To Have Secured It at Home And Fired It Several Times

Police were called Wednesday to the Singer Sewing Machine Company office on South Mill street, where they found the manager detaining a couple of small boys, one of whom James Pawlak, aged 13, of 140 Morehead avenue, South New Castle Boro. had a thirty-eight caliber revolver in his possession. He claimed that it belonged to his brother, Thomas, aged 18 and admitted that there had been several cartridges in it, when he first secured it and that he had fired it off along one of the local rivers.

The other boy, Lewis Leonard of 210 South Jefferson street, claimed that he had seen Pawlak with the gun and had tried to persuade him to take it to the police station and that they had been on their way there, when the manager of the Singer Company saw them and detained them, while he called the police.

The boys together with Thomas Pawlak, the older brother, and alleged owner of the gun, have been ordered in before the mayor on Saturday morning.

Worlds Fair Visitors Are Spending Money

By CARL L. TURNER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, July 6.—As an indication of the liberality with which the world fair multitudes are spending money, a Century of Progress auditors revealed today that on July 3 alone, concessionaires grossed $300,719.

This tidy sum went for hot dogs and lemonade, puppet shows and the parthenons, sky rides and the roller coasters, and competing side-shows despite the fact that some 80 fair buildings charge no admission.

Only a smattering of the main show in the free buildings can be absorbed in a single day and persons so disposed have no difficulty wrestling a full day's entertainment out of their 50 cent general admission fee, yet 247,133 visitors paid $200,719 to see the whole show. Add to that figure almost another 100 thousand dollars—the kiddies get in for 25 cents—the same 247,136 visitors paid at the main entrance and the reason the lights in the auditoriums flicker throughout the night at once becomes apparent.

Money passes through their hands like water over Niagara, and fair sponsors point with pride to the breadth of the figures the comptometers tick off as evidence enough that Chicago's second world fair is putting money into circulation.

Hotel men and store managers join in the enthusiasm over the liberal tendencies of world fair guests. If the present support obtains for a few months longer persons holding a Century of Progress bonds will lose little sleep unless it is done intentionally in the streets of Paris or in its new rival, Tex Guinan's pirate ship.

(International News Service)
STURBRIDGE, Mass., July 6.—Highly nervous as the result of continued ill health, Dwight M. Whittemore, 45, water commissioner and tax assessor, shot and killed his wife and then took his own life.

Latin And Greek Studies Will Be Given Polishing

Hope To Make Studies More Attractive To Average High School Student

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, July 6.—A new life for the "dead" languages, was contemplated today by teachers of Latin and Greek in attendance at the annual convention of the National Education Association here.

Introduction of a bit of jazz tempo in Latin teaching might whet the appetites of students for the unpalatable subject, the teachers agreed.

As a start, Miss Mildred Dean, head of the Latin department of the Washington, D. C., schools, said, the teachers might don togas.

At a huge meeting last night attended by 5000 of the 15,000 delegates here to discuss the nation's education program, Louis A. Johnson, national commander of the American Legion, declared education and national defense are synonymous.

Johnson also scored the reductions in personnel suffered by the army and navy.

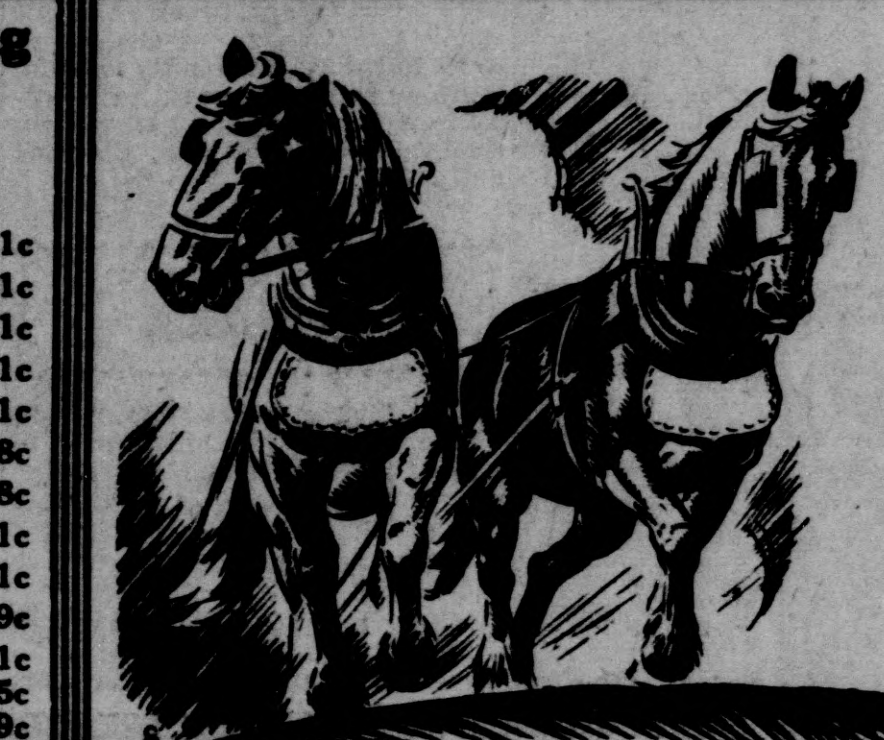

Committee reports, departmental meetings, an address by Robert M. Hutchins, president of the University of Chicago, and one by Harold L. Ickes, secretary of interior, and election of officers, are on the program for today.

The thought should be made to perish that Europe after being eager to acquire the American dollar is now desirous of regulating its value. —The Washington Evening Star.

To a Husband—

who can't give his Wife a Vacation this Summer...

YOU can't quite manage it this year? And she's being a good sport about it? You be a good sport, too!

Invest a little money to keep her kitchen cool and comfortable—to lighten her cleaning tasks, to free her for hours of outdoor fun.

Install an electric range. Completely insulated. No air currents to flow through the oven and carry heat into the room. The heat stays in the range. Cook and kitchen stay cool. The electric range is clean. No blackened pots or pans to scrub.

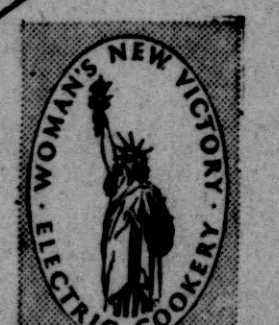

Best of all, electric cookery is truly automatic. Your wife prepares dinner in the morning, pops it in the oven, sets the automatic control. Then she's free. For resting or reading, golf or tennis, bridge or shopping.

Doesn't that sound like a sensible solution to this year's vacation problem? Won't you let us demonstrate the coolness, the cleanliness, and convenience of the electric range?

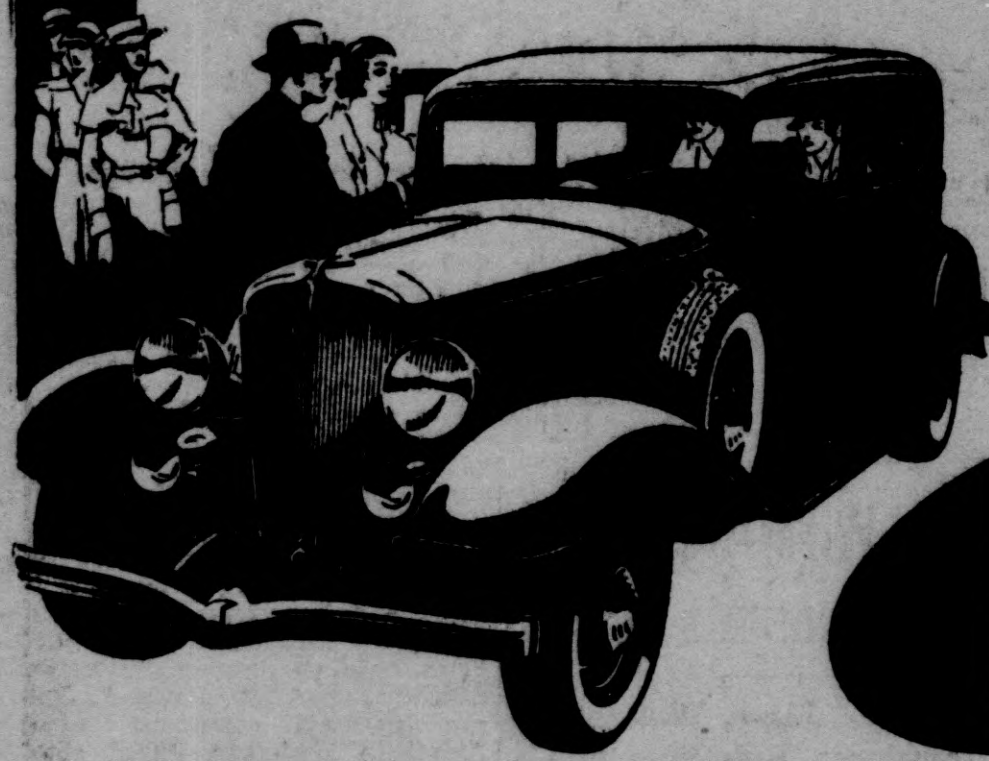

Down payment is low. Actual figures prove operating costs in your own neighborhood less than you probably think. Come in for a demonstration today.

Brewery President Is Woman Aged 86

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, July 6.—Strangely though it may seem the first woman to arrive daily at the Jacob Horning brewery is none other than the president of the concern—Mrs. Jacob Horning, an 86 year old great grandmother.

Friends claim for her the honor of being the only feminine brewery president in the country. She has headed the company since the death of her husband eight years ago. With this year's federal deficit less than two billions, more than one congressman is probably thinking with regret of a lost opportunity to make it an even two billions.—The Boston Evening Transcript.

Await Vote On Repeal In Two
Southern States

Alabama And Arkansas Bell-
Wethers Of South, Will Vote On July 18

WETS MUST GET
20 MORE STATES

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff
Correspondent
WASHINGTON, July 6.—The probable fate of the eighteenth amendment will be known to the American people within two weeks when the states of Alabama and Arkansas vote on repeal July 18. The two southern states were regarded here today as "bell-wethers" of the repeal movement. If they vote wet, repeal of the eighteenth amendment will be assured—and probably within another few months. If one of these states goes wet, the repealists believe national prohibition will be terminated. If both states remain dry and reject repeal, the fate of prohibition will be left in doubt with the repealists facing odds against removing the eighteenth amendment.

Need 20 More
Sixteen states, with a population of nearly 55,000,000, have voted for repeal thus far. The repealists need ratification by 20 more states to remove the eighteenth amendment from the constitution. If they can break into the so-called dry "solid south," only a political miracle can prevent repeal. The national dry organizations were reported making a "last ditch" fight to hold Alabama and Arkansas to the prohibition ranks. If they succeed, the drys will need but eleven more states to keep the eighteenth amendment in the constitution. With Alabama and Arkansas dry, it would give tremendous encouragement to the prohibitionists in other southern states and in such dry territory as Maine, Kansas, Oklahoma, South Dakota, Nebraska, Colorado and Idaho.

Rum Smugglers Getting Bolder

Will Attempt To Flood The Country With Cheap For-

Repeal

FIVE SHIPS ARE ENROUTE TO U. S.

Run smugglers
(International News Service)
By PAUL C. YATES
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 6.—International rum syndicates operating in Atlantic and Gulf waters are preparing to "make a killing" before the eighteenth amendment is repealed, confidential reports received by the coast guard today indicated.

These reports told of expanding rum fleet activities based upon receiving prosperity and a general let-down of dry law enforcement on land and sea.

Five rum ships
Efforts to flood the country with cheap foreign liquor before the repeal amendment is finally adopted were foreseen.

Five rum ships were sighted near New York City.

To meet this new offensive, the coast guard had a force sadly depleted by the administration's economy program.

Coast guard officials pointed ruefully to the figures: seven destroyers which have been used for sea patrol duty, decommissioned; 140 smaller vessels laid up, to be sold at auction; four coast guard bases decommissioned; and the personnel slashed to meet these new conditions.

The destroyers were relied upon to keep contact with offshore rum fleets. The 140 smaller vessels consisted of 75 foot boats used for patrol work 10 to 20 miles offshore; and 36 foot picket boats for inshore work.

All-Stars Are Playing Today

Hubbell And Grove May Be Starting Pitchers; Cream Of Baseball World On Hand

Game Of Century In Chicago Will Draw Throng Of About 50,000 Fans

By JOHN C. HOFFMAN
International News Service Sports Writer

CHICAGO, July 6.—The science of the base hit will be demonstrated by its most illustrious exponents today at Comiskey Park when all-star teams of the American and National leagues slug it out before some 50,000 gathered for what is now called the game of the century.

The contest will begin promptly at 1:15 (Chicago Daylight Time) and end when nine innings have been played to the satisfaction or dismay of all concerned.

Although the object of considerable hoop-de-do among the clients and the baseball people, there has been little or no wailing on the outcome due, of course, to the uncertainty of what may happen in a single ball game. Baseball men are almost unanimously agreed that anything can and will happen. They point out with an air of nonchalance that it may be a pitchers' duel or a slugfest unworthy even of a contest in Mrs. Higgins' back yard.

National Leaguers say that Carl Hubbell, providing he is started by Manager John McGraw, will left-hand the bat wielders of the American League to dismal submission. American Leaguers seem to be assured that Ruth, Gehrig, Simmons, Fox, Cronin and Dickey will pin Mr. Hubbell's ears back. The freed-minded ones look for a barrage of base hits to be summarily dropped to all parts of the premises.

Picking the winner of this extraordinary affair may be likened to naming the next move of a congressman. It does not seem possible any one pitcher could serve up enough art to stop either of these teams, but funnier things have happened.

Heavy Hitters
A comparison of the members, however, would seem to give the American League something of a questionable advantage in the matter of talent. In my book Hartnett is neither the catcher nor the hitter that is Dickey. Terry may play a modicum more baseball at first than Gehrig, but Lou is by far the more dangerous hitter and no boob at first.

You can give Frisch a margin over Gehring at second, but you'll have to come right back to the hard-riding circuit when you take into consideration the respective merits of Bartell and Cronin, if for no other reason than that the Washington manager is betting the ball at a 300 clip. Traynor has all the better of it at third over Dykes, but the White Sox third baseman is the type who rises to the occasion.

Need Berger
Unless the National Leaguers employ Wally Berger in centerfield, the parent loop will find itself devoid of a regular fly chaser in this territory. And in a combination comprised of O'Doul, P. Warner and Klein, the Heydler team is offering two men who are not hitting 300 against less artful pitching than will be served up to them today.

Excepting the lumbering tendencies of Babe Ruth, the American League offers a more capable defense outfield with Averill playing his regular position in center and Simmons doing all the things that he can in left field.

The Lineup
CHICAGO, July 6.—The probable lineups of the All-Star National and American teams which meet here today follow:

National League	American League
Bartell, ss	Averill, cf
Frisch, 2b	Gehrig, 2b
Klein, rf	Ruth, rf
P. Warner, cf	Gehrig, 1b
Terry, 1b	Simmons, ss
O'Doul, if	Cronin, 3b
Traynor, 3b	Dykes, 3b
Hartnett, c	Dickey, c
Hubbell, p	Grove, p

Pirates Whip Cards 7 To 6

Pirates Gain In National League Race As Giants Are Idle

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, July 6.—Despite a victory over the St. Louis Cardinals and the fact that today and tomorrow are open dates for the Pittsburgh Pirates, Manager George Gibson today told his underlings that they aren't to have a Roman holiday.

Instead, the roster of the team not in Chicago for the all star battle this afternoon were to get their usual workouts.

The Pirates showed rare form yesterday in turning in a victory over the Cards in the last of their three-game series. The final score of 7-6 doesn't exactly tell the story.

Vaughn Hits Homer
The Cards were leading five to nothing when the fifth inning began. In the fifth, Vaughn cracked a home run into the right field stands, scoring L. Waner and Traynor ahead of him.

In the seventh, the Pirates scored three more, came back in the eighth to stop a threatened Card rally with only one run and coasted along to victory in the ninth.

The Pittsburghers now have taken eight out of twelve games from the Cards, having taken two out of three of the series just closed.

PLAY TODAY
Fardeale Stars will play the West Side Independents today on the B. & O. field.

CARNEGIE WINS ANOTHER
Carnegie A. C. beat Frank Avenue 13 to 12 and won from St. Andrews 9 to 7. The Universal Cubs upset Centennial A. C. 5 to 2 and the Carnegie Midges won their 22nd midget game when they beat West Side Midges 24 to 9. The Bonnetts won from the Young Yankees 5 to 4 in midget and later yesterday vanquished Catholic A. C. 3 to 2.

NEWS SLUGS WIN
News Slugs midget team defeated the Eagles, 13 to 12, at the Genkinger field last night. The game was a hard-hitting affair. Covey featured with a homer. Patsy, Boron and McGurk also hit the ball hard. Kolez pitched a fine game for the winners.

ST. ANDREWS WINS
St. Andrews church midget ball team defeated the Ellwood City midgets last night at Gaston Park, 11 to 10, in a 10-inning game. The Saints won out in the 10th by hard hitting. Small pitched a fine game, fanning eight men. Home runs were hit by Bender and Hangst. The Saints had 13 hits.

Moore Turns In High Score At Shoot

New Castle Rifle club held a shoot Tuesday, on the East Brook range, firing a 600-yard qualification course of 70 shots.

Lease Anderson, the old-time match shooter, started off by giving the boys something to try for by coming through with a 49 at 600 yards. The course ended with seven members qualifying, three expert one sharp shooter and three marksman.

Game To Decide First Half Title

Mahoning And Tigers Clash In Crucial Game Today

EACH TEAM HAS WON ONE GAME

Indications are they'll have to oil the gates at Centennial field today as probabilities are that several thousand fans and fanettes will pass through 'em to see the third and crucial tilt between the Tigers and Mahoning at six p. m. d. s. t. Both have won one game and with rivalry at fever heat and the players reported in good condition a good game should be witnessed. The winner will be awarded the first half title of the Lawrence circuit. The second half will start Friday.

Tigers took the first game after passing through a nightmare. They scored two in the first, one in the second, another in the third and two in the fourth.

Indications were that the Tigers claws were too sharp but a couple of bad plays stimulated Mahoning and they had the Tigers with their backs to their lair when the sixth got under way.

They cracked the ball and almost the Tigers hearts when they scored twice in that frame and had the Tigers in a frenzy when they scored three in the seventh.

However, Lady Luck came to the aid of the Tigers and when First Baseman Paul McCullough caught a high fly it spelled safety for the Tigers and doom for Mahoning. The score, six to five.

Signor Canage gave his Mahoning a dose of pep for the second game and in the first session they scored four runs and another in the third. The Tigers were blanked five to nothing.

Houston Hits Only 'Homer'
In the first game one of Mahoning's star hurlers did not fare any too well after he relieved Fragne. He was Perretti who it is recorded previously had not lost a league game.

Stone started for the Tigers and had everything his own way but the curtain was rung down on Stone in favor of Houston after he had pitched a flock of balls.

Mahoning injected the veteran southpaw Steve Rutnic into the lineup of the second game and he held the Tigers to a pair of safe blows. Lane and Stone were touched up for seven.

So far there have been only four errors recorded in the series which shows the calibre of the fielding. Fifteen free trips have been handed out and the same number of strikeouts recorded.

Houston holds the distinction of having turned in the only homer. It was a blow registered in the initial game on the West Side. Triples have been conspicuous by their absence.

James, McCullough, Calipetri and N. Perretti have turned in two base hits and to date only one double play has been recorded, it having been in the first game, Perretti to C. Piccaro to Perretti.

None of the Tigers have turned in two hits. However, Orlando and C. Piccaro have. Stone of the Bengals has made three assists. So far no outfielder has muffed a hit ball to the gardens.

Midget Wolgast Signed To Box
(International News Service)
NEW YORK, July 6.—Midget Wolgast, world's flyweight champion, will box Lew Farber, New York, in the main ten-rounder at Fugazy Bowl, Coney Island, next Tuesday night, it was announced today.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Tony Herrera and Lew Raymond will bring gloves in a 10-round bout Monday night at Pittsburgh.

Miss Fritz Stifel, Wheeling, five times queen of West Virginia women's golf, went to the semi-final round with Mrs. M. M. Moorehead, Charleston, yesterday at White Sulphur Springs. Fritz, defending champion, won a 4-3 victory over her mother, Mrs. E. W. Stifel, and Mrs. Moorehead eliminated Mrs. H. D. Everett, 1929 champion, and Kanawha county champion.

Isadore Gastanaga knocked out Les Kennedy in the sixth round last night in New York.

Jack Sharkey got 48 1/2 per cent of the $198,215 gross receipts of the Sharkey-Carnegie fight. Primo got 10 per cent. The net receipts were $163,772. Madison Square Garden made $39,000 on the scrap, which cost Sharkey his world's heavyweight title.

Picks Pirates As Dark Horse

Sport Writer Sees Pittsburgh As Menace To The Giants For Flag

By COPELAND C. BURG
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, July 6.—Maybe it's mid-summer madness or a dog may have bitten us, but right now our fancy for the dark horse in the National league pennant race is Pittsburgh.

The Pirates' pitching staff wouldn't make a good case for a midget, their once sparkling infield hasn't any more punch than 3.2 and their hitters have long been off the gold standard.

But Manager Gibson, optimistic as a rookie in spring, hopes to be yelping at the heels of the league-leading New York Giants by the middle of July.

Plans Shakeup
He is planning a shakeup of his pitchers and hopes his hitters continue to click as they did yesterday when the Wander boys, Lindstrom and Vaughan got so hot the Pirates overcame the St. Louis Cardinals' five-run lead and snatched it, 7 to 6. The victory put the Bucs within one game of second place. Vaughan touched off the powder in the fifth inning with a homer that counted three runs. Pepper, Martin got five of the St. Louis total of 12 safeties for a perfect day at bat.

A double by Charlie Grimm with the sacks filled returned a 5 to 3 triumph for the Chicago Cubs over Cincinnati. Bud Tinning, Chicago hurler, scored his fifth consecutive win.

Rookie Wins
Dick Oliver, Philadelphia sandlotter, pitched the Athletics to a 4 to 2 victory over the Boston Sox, allowing only seven hits and fanning eight. Eric McNair was the big man at bat, driving in three runs for the A's with a circuter and a double.

Chicago's Sox hit their way into fourth place in the American league as they humbled the Cleveland Indians, 10 to 6. Six hits in the sixth inning developed seven runs for Chicago. Harder and Connolly, Indian pitchers, being driven to the porcelains.

Holding the St. Louis Browns to six hits and striking out nine enabled Tommy Bridges to win for the Detroit Tigers, 9 to 4. Detroit got 16 bingles off Blaeholder and McDonald.

Other teams were idle.

Independent Team Has Lots Of Color

Universals Hope To Add Butler Club To Winning List Here Saturday

When the Universal Sanitary base ball team opposes the Butler Armco Club at Centennial field Saturday afternoon, fans will see one of the best independent aggregations organized here in a number of years. The contest will start at 3:30 o'clock, fast time.

The local team has plenty of color. Its manager Gus Thompson is known throughout the country as one of the best catchers ever turned out of here. Paul McCullough, who is on the hurling staff saw action in the American association league as well as in the big league. It is likely that McCullough will pitch against Butler.

Jackie Reider, local shortstop has played throughout the country with the fast semi-pro clubs. He was given a tryout with the Kansas City Blues of the American Association league.

Dashbach, a Pittsburgh boy, who has been given a tryout with the Pirates is on the catching staff. Mickey Huff at second base is playing great ball. Huff has seen action with the Des Moines Cubs and several other semi-pro combinations.

"Lefty" Byak for some years has been recognized as one of the best outfielders here. Nick Biondi, St. Vincent college athlete is playing centerfield.

The game Saturday should prove one of the best played here this season. The game starts at 3:30 o'clock.

Attendance at the opening swims on Monday and Wednesday, the association announced, exceeded that of several years past. Today and every Thursday was to be reserved as "girls' day" with Miss Lenore Beall, qualified instructor, in charge.

The nickle swim idea was introduced at the Y here years ago and has grown popular as summers passed.

AVOID SHAVING IRRITATION URGES SKIN CLINIC!

SERIOUS skin trouble is traced to faulty shaving by the Gillette Skin Clinic. This department, headed by an eminent dermatologist, was founded because of the prevalence of disorders caused or aggravated by shaving.

"Avoid irritation, if you would keep your skin clear and free from blemishes," warns the Skin Clinic. "Irritation lessens the self-protective action of the normal skin and favors skin troubles. Be sure to use a sharp blade, because a sharp blade is not irritating to normal skin."

This advice, issued by the Skin Clinic, is based upon independent research and a nation-wide survey conducted among doctors and dermatologists. The "BLUE BLADE" is made to meet the requirements of skin specialists. It is extremely sharp—23% to 42% sharper than other blades examined by photo-electric method in a recent competitive test.

To avoid skin irritation—and enjoy a degree of shaving comfort you may never have experienced—we urge you to try the "BLUE BLADE" Gillette Safety Razor Company, Boston, Mass.

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland, July 6.—With a blistering 71, a figure all the more spectacular in view of prevailing high scores and wretched weather, Ed Dudley of Concordville, Pa., swept into the lead in the second round of the British open golf championship today.

Coupled with his magnificent 70 of yesterday, it gave Dudley a 36-hole total of 141 and gravely menaced the two-stroke lead achieved by Walter Hagen when he completed the first round in 82.

At the time Dudley roared home over the mist-cloaked course two strokes under par, Hagen was yet to be heard from, but made it incumbent upon him to card a par 73 today unless he wishes to see the Pennsylvania wizard surge ahead of him in the race for the most coveted crown in golf.

Five strokes behind Dudley was Horton Smith, who carded a par 73 today for a total of 146. From the viewpoint of today's play alone, Joe Ezar, the "Wild Texas" of Waco, was Dudley's closest competitor, for he broke par 72 and won himself a place among the leaders with an aggregate of 149.

Most of the other early starters were less fortunate in coping with the mist, drizzle and gusty wind which swept over the ancient course. Paul Runyan, for example, took a 77 for a total of 153, while the best Olin Dutra could do was a 76, the same as he carded yesterday.

Billy Burke virtually blasted himself out of competition with an 82 for an obese total of 159, a doubtful figure to say the least.

Dudley was out in 36, which is par for the first 9, and reached his heights on the way home with a 35, two under par. Only a single five at the twelfth marred the perfection of those last nine holes, which were a succession of 3's and 4's, including a birdie 4 on the dangerous seventh or "flood hole." His card: Out—444 434—36.

In—355 444 444—35—71—141.

Sacramental Wines Restrictions Lifted

Control Over Wine Used In Homes Is Relaxed; Family Allowed 5-10 Gallons

Considerable Bickering Over Wine For Sacramental Purposes In Homes

By ROBERT S. THORNBURGH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 6.—In a fourth drastic relaxation of restrictions against the legitimate use of alcohol, the department of justice and treasury lifted restrictions on distribution of sacramental wine.

Regulation of sacramental wine has been one of the most controversial phases of prohibition enforcement and has caused frequent clashes between churches using that type of wine and the federal authorities.

Control Relaxed.
Control was particularly relaxed over the use of sacramental wine in the homes. Quantity of wine that each adult may obtain in any one year was doubled. Direct purchases were authorized from vintners. Federal investigation and reports on wine distribution were abolished. The effective period of permits to distribute was tripled.

Each adult may now draw two instead of one gallon of sacramental wine for a year's use, while the family limitation was raised from five to ten gallons.

Formerly church officials were charged with the responsibility of dispensing sacramental wine for home use. This restriction was dropped and members of the congregation may make their purchases directly from the distributor, or winery.

Under the new regulations the federal authorities cannot hold up favorable action on permits because of a suspicion that the legal limits of a certain congregation have been exceeded. Action must be taken on permits in 30 days and on renewal ten days.

Permits are issued for 90 days instead of 30.

GOLDEN WEDDING

A beautiful summer day and an attractive farm home made a perfect setting for the celebration of the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel A. Pyrie, of Mercer which was held at the home of their daughter, Mrs. H. J. Minnich, on July Fourth. One hundred relatives of the bride and groom attended the family dinner which was held at noon. Detroit Takes Recovery Lead

Captains of Motor Industry Amazed At Rapid Recovery From Depression

(International News Service)
DETROIT, July 6.—After struggling through three years of the worst depression experienced by any American city, Detroit at the half-way mark of 1933, appeared today to be leading the entire nation on the road back to prosperity.

Captains of the automobile industry were amazed at the sustained strength manifested by motor sales. The sales charts are defying all expectations by failing to show the usual summer decline. Instead, most companies are reporting a continued steady increase.

For the Detroit area, all motor sales marks established since the boom period of 1929 were shattered on June 30. On that day Wayne county bought 866 passenger cars. Parker Rust Proof company reported that its sales of rust-proofing compound for metal beer-barrels had increased about 400 per cent since June 15.

Camp Actresses To Have Chance To Show Talent

Playlets To Be Given At Y. W. C. A. Camp Around Bonfire Tonight

Today's agenda at Camp East Brook is including lots of swimming, sports and sings, to be topped off this evening by the presentation of two playlets by the dramatic group around the campfire. The playlets are being directed by Miss Geraldine Turk of the camp staff.

Jane Brennehan and Nancy Blaine, who were dressed as characters from the Flapper Fanny comic strip, won the prize at last night's "Guess What I Am" party. Many unusual costumes were concocted by the camping crew and furnished no end of amusement. An additional feature of the party was a game of "profile cutting" from pieces of paper. The profiles were pinned to a sheet, candles placed at the rear and the campers guessed "who was who". Naomi Conn's cut-out was judged the most worthy reproduction.

Peanuts, candied orange peels and cookies were served.

Tomorrow is the last day of the Camp East Brook season. The girls will return to their homes Saturday afternoon.

Chinese Protest On Exhibition Of Manchukuo State

Inform Chicago Century Of Progress Officials Of Protest, Matter Puzzles

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, July 6.—Rufus C. Daves, president of a Century of Progress, was confronted with a neat problem of diplomacy today.

He was in receipt of a protest against inclusion of exhibits of the contested state of Manchukuo, in the Japanese exhibit at the fair.

"Inasmuch as the United States government has refused to recognize Manchukuo," the letter from Chen Low, president of the Chinese Consolidated Benevolent Association of Chicago, read, "it appears to us that a Century of Progress Exposition might consistently deny it recognition."

"We feel that we are within our rights to protest, respectfully but firmly, that you request the Japanese to close this part of their exhibit."

Major Lenox R. Lohr, general manager of the fair, said the state department at Washington would be notified.

Business Shows Big Improvement

Rising Commodity Prices And Increased Wages Give People More Confidence

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, July 6.—Spurred by rising commodity prices and increases in wages, business and industrial recovery made large gains in the Philadelphia district over the past week, a survey revealed today.

A direct effect of increased employment was the slashing of public relief rolls in Philadelphia, Allentown, Norristown, Chester and other Eastern Pennsylvania cities.

ROAMING With Richards

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

I've often wondered what a truck driver thought when a part of his load fell off into the street. And this morning one of them must have been thinking some sulphurous thoughts. Eight or ten bags of cow feed or some kind of animal feed fell off into Washington street, and not a cow was in sight.

Met up with a flock of screech owls the other night. Now a screech owl is not a hoot owl and neither one of them is a snowy owl. There's owls and owls but the screech owl is probably the Beau Brummel of the family. A pretty speckled coat and a pair of big round eyes that reflect wonder when a flash light is shined into their eyes.

The song of a screech owl is hardly in a class with a nightingale. Sounds like a fellow with the ague and a loose set of teeth, trying to imitate a tap dancer on a tin roof. This is their only noise. They can take wing and get through a tree with never a sound of whirring or branch brushing.

Eight of them have formed a double quartet out on the Butler road, and the supply of field mice, moles and other choice screech owl morsels are beginning to get scarce.

Years ago, on years and years, the engineer of this column shot a fairly decent game of golf. Nothing to run a temperature over, neat but not gaudy. After a three-year lay-off tried it again last night, and shades of St. Andrews what a scene.

Drives that should have gone 250 fifted about at 185. Second shots were marked by the presentation of the green did a lot of gyrations in the air and then flew crazily into the rough. Putts had to be chased into the cup, like a flock of ducks into a barn and altogether it was a demonstration of what can't be done with a golf club.

Practicing with a hoe and rake, and putting out with a lawn mower is good exercise and a lot more profitable than golf, but it doesn't give you any license to sound off about the national open.

If there is one piece of work in New Castle that stands out as a job well done, it's the Neshannock river wall, running up Croton avenue. It has ended that old moth eaten appearance of the river bank, saved Croton avenue from getting dropped into the river and all together the job looks like a piece of professional work.

It's worth a ride out to Neshannock Falls these days to watch the stone men getting out that rip rap for the Flynntuning dam. Like some oversized mosquito bills, compressed air drills are biting their way down through the stone, and a little later a charge of dynamite moves the stone out for the sating and loading operations.

The quarries are a scene of activity. 75 men are working there in day and night shifts, and will be busy until the snow flies, it is anticipated.

Wife Says That Oliver Hardy Is Loser At Gambling

In Divorce Court Mrs. Hardy Paints Portly Comedian Husband As Chasing Blonde

(International News Service)
LOS ANGELES, July 6.—Oliver Hardy, portly member of the screen comedy team of Laurel and Hardy, squandered considerable money gambling at Agua Caliente.

He had no acquaintance with "Lady Luck," but knew a blonde pretty well.

These were among the charges made by his wife, Mrs. Myrtle Lee Hardy, in a cross-complaint today to Hardy's suit for which he charged her with going on periodic liquor-drinking "sprees." She said he had lost considerable of their community property in gambling.

Mrs. Hardy, a former film actress, asked for the divorce, $1400 a month alimony, and $4000 attorney fees.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., July 6.—The "want ad murder mystery" remained unsolved today after an investigation by police and questioning of two negro men.

Mrs. Alma Dell Cabbie, 34, was found beaten to death in a fashionable apartment house here Tuesday. It was believed she had gone there in response to a telephone call regarding a want ad that Mrs. Cabbie had inserted in a newspaper in the hope of finding employment.

The body of the woman was found in the apartment of Mrs. Alenita Heye, who is visiting in Corpus Christi. In a telephone conversation with police, Mrs. Heye said she did not know the dead woman. The Heye apartment had not been burglarized.

Activities At Scout Camp Increasing

Scouts Are Busy On Various Features Of Camp Life On Slippery Rock

(Special To The News)
CAMP PHILLIPS, July 6.—Camp activities are increasing at Camp Phillips as the time for the weekly court of honor approaches; a number of the boys of Mahoning 4 passing various projects which will advance them in rank soon. The troop has organized on the patrol system and has reveille around 7:30; breakfast at 8:00; inspection at 9:30; various scoutcraft to 11; and then the morning swim. Dinner, rest hour and afternoon scout projects are followed by a 4 o'clock swim and supper; with free time and campfires before the 10:30 "Taps." This is the typical program of a troop camping unit.

Kiwanis troop V-37 has been putting in the finishing touches on the two cabins which it will use this season, and tonight (Thursday) several Kiwanians will be on hand to dedicate "Kiwanis Knoll" as this location has been named. It is hoped that other troops or troop committees may make a similar interest in such work.

Norval Hochman did a worthwhile good turn when he climbed the big flagpole and recovered the flag hauled end which had been aloft since last season. Yesterday the big American flag flew from its rightful place to welcome the Independence Day; and a number of visitors were on hand throughout the daylight hours. While there were some fireworks used at camp, there were no casualties, though one or two boys did not miss by much. Camp Phillips had another clean record for a Fourth.

Preparations are being made for the heavy registration indicated for next week; when a number of the older troops will get into camp life on the new plan; and from the end of the week until the last color ceremony on the 29th, there will be about a full capacity if the usual holdovers go into the last period. Just now it looks as if any troop not already registered for camp will have to come on the 22nd to get a camp period at the "camp along the Slippery Rock."

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, July 6.—The legislative banking investigating committee returned to the capitol today to continue its inquiry into the administration of closed banks by the state banking department.

Dr. William D. Gordon, state secretary of banking, was scheduled to make his second appearance as a witness. This time, it was expected, he would be asked to produce the list of 162 insurance brokers or concerns with which the department is authorized to do business.

On the strength of Dr. Gordon's testimony that the list was given to him by Juncan C. McCallum, secretary to Gov. Gifford Pinchot, the committee was expected to request McCallum's appearance.
